

Fabrício La Banca
Head of Group Purchasing
Surplus, Lufthansa Technik

What new technology will have biggest impact on future of MRO and why?

Any data driven technology that leads to more efficient processes, standardization and automation.

What would you say to someone new to the aviation/MRO business?

It is a great industry with high dynamics and you better keep running to maintain the pace.

1-2 Sentences on why prospective attendees should join your session

All players in the industry have been contributing to 'intransparency', bringing probably higher costs and inefficiency for everybody. It is time to open up, not to tell secrets, but to make available in terms of data, who everybody already knows and help the industry to become more efficient.

Who do you most admire in the aviation industry and why?

Enthusiastic, passionate people all over the world!